Behaviour Culture

The aims of the behaviour curriculum

Successful relationships are underpinned by the positive ethos promoted in the academy culture; a culture which demands high expectations of staff and pupils and which also demonstrates respect, tolerance and understanding of difference, in the drive towards equity of opportunity and high aspirations for all. We aim to create a culture of exceptionally good behaviour: for learning, for community and for life. We aim to build a community which values kindness, care, respect, tolerance and empathy for others and to help learners take control over their behaviour and be responsible for the consequences of it. We encourage pupils to value the diversity in our society and the environment in which they live whilst becoming active and responsible citizens, contributing to the community and society.

Through encouraging positive behaviour patterns we can promote good relationships throughout the academy community built on trust and understanding. We believe that as pupils practise these behaviours, over time they become habits that positively shape how they feel about themselves and how other people perceive them. As philosopher Paul Durant states "We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence, then, is not an act, but a habit." (1926)

Modelling the Culture

Teaching the Curriculum

- Good behaviours are explicitly taught and regularly refreshed to ensure all pupils understand the expectations of them. The Astrea learning behaviour and expectations set out clear parameters for behaviours for learning, standards and routines so that we have a shared and consistent language of expectations across school.
- The curriculum is taught explicitly during the first week in Autumn term alongside the traditional National Curriculum subjects
- Children should learn the content of the curriculum so that they can recall the information and act upon it. At the start of each term, the 'Astrea learning behaviours curriculum is revisited with pupils and will continue to be reinforced throughout the year. As with other curriculum content, this should be taught using explicit teaching based on the ten 'Principles of Instruction' set out by Barak Rosenshine including regular quizzing to check and strengthen retention.
- Teachers will also demonstrate these behaviours and ensure pupils have many opportunities to practise these (particularly in the first few days of term). It is expected that all pupils will know this content

The process for teaching behaviour explicitly is as follows

- IDENTIFY the behaviour we expect
- Explicitly TEACH behaviour
- MODEL the behaviour we are expecting
- PRACTISE behaviour
- NOTICE excellent behaviour
- CREATE conditions for excellent behaviour

It is important that all school staff know the details of this curriculum, teach it explicitly to children and continuously maintain the high standards we set. By doing so we support each other to create a culture where pupils feel safe and are able to learn in an optimised environment and where teachers are free to teach

Maintaining the Culture

There are three overarching behaviour principles

Be Ready	Be Respectful	Be Safe
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • We arrive at school on time, every time • We get to lessons on time. • We wear the correct uniform with pride and have the right clothes for PE and playing outdoors. • We make sure we have the right equipment for the day. • We take part fully in lessons and show resilience. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • We always listen when an adult is talking. • We always listen to pupils in our class giving ideas and feedback. • We are polite and show good manners to everyone. • We respect difference and know we are all equal. • We look after our equipment and share it. • We look after our environment and never drop litter. • We respect the law and the rules of school and society 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • We follow instructions -first time, everytime. • We do not tolerate bullying of any kind. • We walk sensibly around our school. • We line up sensibly. • We know who to go to for help and support. • We stay safe online and outside school. • We use equipment safely.

SEND: While this curriculum is for all pupils it will be applied differently in different year groups depending on pupils' ages and may be applied differently depending on individual pupils' SEND needs. For example, pupils who have autistic spectrum conditions may find it very uncomfortable to maintain eye-contact with adults. Sensitivity must be applied at all times when teaching the curriculum unimpeded. The following programmes are used to provide additional support when necessary.

 Thrive	 Team Teach	Trauma Informed
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Thrive Approach is a developmental and trauma-sensitive approach to meeting the emotional and social needs of children. As a result of implementing the Thrive Approach, children and young people are better placed to engage with their learning and with life. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The positive behaviour management strategies that Team Teach develops and promotes emphasise team building, personal safety, communication, and verbal and non-verbal de-escalation techniques for dealing with challenging behaviour which reduce the need for physical intervention. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Support children who suffer with trauma or mental health problems and whose troubled behaviour acts as a barrier to learning.
These approaches are linked to the PSHCE curriculum with regards to pupil wellbeing and mental health

Our curriculum comprises an entire planned educational experience making full use of opportunities for real world learning.
